

FRENCH ASK SPEED IN PEACE PROJECTS

Commissions Hurry Plans for Consideration of Supreme Council.

ANXIOUS OVER GERMANY

Return of Wilson, Lloyd
George and Orlando
Awaited in Paris.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, March 2.—The eighth week of the Peace Conference opens with increased effort by the working commissions to get their projects ready for consideration when President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George and Premier Orlando return to Paris.

No one is more anxious for prompt action than the French Commissioners, who want to have the commission of the League of Nations plan as an integral part of it. An opening for revision of the plan that will not threaten the integrity of the league appears to be broadening. M. Pichon, the French Foreign Minister, has indicated that he will accept amendments relating to an international force.

It is thought that the conference may consider other amendments, such as may be regarded in America as necessary to remove the ambiguity of clauses, the right of secession from the league and the methods of settling disputes between the nations. The American delegates, it is said, may consider the presentation of such amendments, but are waiting for the President before defining their attitude.

Fear Anarchy in Germany.

French apprehension is growing over the danger of anarchy in Germany, and the French delegates, therefore, desire to hasten the conclusion of the peace treaty and incorporate in it measures for the protection of the peace treaty. The French Foreign Minister, Stephen Pichon, the French Foreign Minister, reflecting this view, said that every one wants a responsible government established in Germany, with which peace may be concluded.

M. Pichon regards of prime importance the decision of the Supreme Council to create a financial section of the League of Nations. Some of the delegates have suggested that the Supreme Council has the authority to transfer to the League of Nations the responsibility for handling the subject of the international pooling of assets and liabilities growing out of the war, which might otherwise have retarded the conclusion of the peace treaty.

Some immediately pressing work has been sensibly advanced. It is thought, by the creation of a committee on boundaries, which will take up all reports on frontiers and get them ready for consideration by the Council of the League of Nations. The Council of the League of Nations will be facilitated, it is believed, by the decision to deal now only with boundary claims growing out of the war, and not admitting retroactive discussion.

Kiel Canal a Problem.

M. Pichon to-day had his weekly talk with the newspaper men at the Quai d'Orsay. He declared that the question of the disposition of the German fleet had not yet been brought before the Peace Conference. Concerning the question connected with the Kiel Canal, it is believed that it should not be internationalized or if other measures should be taken to remove the strategic value of the waterway to Germany, also had not yet been discussed.

M. Pichon said he considered the question of the Kiel Canal a problem of the highest importance and that none of the great Powers could remain unconcerned.

The discussion of Marshal Foch's report by the five great Powers at the conference will begin to-morrow, according to M. Pichon. He added that the Economic Council had not yet submitted its report on the blockade question, but that this would be studied shortly, in connection with the general military conditions which are to be imposed on Germany.

The Supreme War Council at its session yesterday, presided over by Premier Clemenceau, decided to increase to fifteen the number of members of the financial and economic commissions. Up to the present these commissions have comprised only one representative from each of the five great Powers. In the future each nation will have two representatives, while the other Powers with special interests in questions considered by these bodies will elect five members. The additional representatives will be nominated at the meeting to-morrow of the Supreme Council at the Quai d'Orsay.

It is reported that considerable progress is being made by the commissions studying territorial questions.

The crew and passengers were rescued and the ship has been landed. The mate and three of the crew arrived here yesterday and reported that the ship had been battered by the waves and that the crew were without food. Assistance has been sent.

The Dreadnought was a small schooner engaged in the West India trade. Her home port was Curaçao.

WILSON TO GREET GOVERNORS TO-DAY

21 Accept Invitations to Attend
Washington Conference.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—State Governors and Mayors of the larger cities over the country began arriving in Washington to-day to attend the White House conference for discussion of the peace and labor conditions. The meeting will open to-morrow morning with an address by President Wilson and sessions will continue until Wednesday.

Twenty-one governors have accepted invitations to attend the conference and twenty-four others are expected to send representatives. One hundred and eleven Mayors have also been invited to attend, while forty-three others will be represented by delegates.

In addition to the list of speakers for the conference, which was made public, it was announced to-night that John Hays Hammond would speak Wednesday on domestic and foreign commerce.

Secretary of Labor Wilson, who called the convention, will speak to-morrow and will impress upon the State and municipal officials the importance of doing everything possible to avoid unemployment. He will dwell upon the great need of a system of cooperation between the State, municipalities and the Federal Government, and will urge the making of a program which will lead toward stabilization of labor.

EBERT MANIFESTO DEFIES RADICALS

Greater Berlin Soviets have adopted and telegraphed to the Assembly at Weimar a resolution protesting against efforts to abolish the Soldiers' and Workmen's Councils and the general hostility encountered by the revolutionary boards among the State military and municipal authorities.

The resolution calls for the Soviets everywhere to fight for existence. At the meeting the convocation of a national Soviet congress on March 15 was demanded.

That the political situation in Weimar and Berlin is anything but reassuring is amply reflected in the editorial comments of the newspapers to-day, which are stimulated by a significant communication in the Vorwarts. This newspaper prints prominently and frankly a warning to the Socialist elements of the Scheidemann Cabinet that unless they are able to produce something better than negative results they had better withdraw unconditionally, leaving the political wreck as a legacy to the bourgeoisie.

Disappointed Workers.
These Socialists are charged with having grossly disappointed the hopes of the workers by neglect to enact even the most elementary emergency legislation.

The Vorwarts complains that Germany is drifting toward a heap of wreckage while the speeches delivered at the Weimar Assembly deal with the interior decorations of a house not yet built.

Other newspapers comment on the drift of the Majority Socialists toward the Left under pressure from the Independents.

"Whoever assails the life of the nation is an enemy."

That the Socialists have succeeded in their propaganda for Soviet rule is amply evidenced by the Government's decision with respect to the plan to incorporate the ideas of Soldiers and workmen's organization in the constitution. There is further evidence that Hugo Haase's party, the Independent Socialists, is preparing to make common cause with the Spartacists in a concentrated effort to overthrow the Scheidemann Cabinet by launching a general strike with the purpose of forcing the issue of Soviet rule.

That the Weimar Government is flinching with the latter idea seems to be indicated by the suggestion now being considered that the Assembly be given an auxiliary chamber comprising members of Soviet boards.

The idea of the Socialists are now employing new tactics along political lines. In Friday's elections to the executive committee of the Greater Berlin Soviets they captured two seats, the first representation in that body, in which they and the Independents have now an equal vote.

Spartan leaders in the strike district of central Germany are sending out propaganda by trains and automobiles into districts not as yet affected by the strike. An unscheduled train of which the Spartacists had obtained control attempted to pass the station at Kotten, but was stopped by station guards, who opened fire on it with rifles and machine guns. One woman was killed and eight civilian passengers were severely wounded. The Spartacist train crew, including the station master at Halle, a youth of 19, were arrested. The Spartacists had distributed incendiary literature from Halle to Kotten.

At Edersleben the authorities halted an automobile occupied by Spartacists, who were heading for the Anhalt mining region for the alleged purpose of inciting a strike there. The Spartacists were arrested.

Berlin newspapers with the exception of the Socialist organs were prevented from appearing to-day as a result of the sudden strike proclaimed to-day. It is uncertain whether this strike is a prelude to a general political strike for which a large part of Berlin labor is agitating or whether it is due to trade demands. Fear is expressed in some quarters, however, that the present situation may be a spark in the political powder barrel.

The Municipal Council of Greater Berlin to-day published an appeal to the non-Socialist population of the capital, urging a general counter strike in case the Independent-Socialists carry out their threat to call a general strike. The Council also urged the people to resist force with force. The prestige of this organization, however, is not high.

POLITICAL CRISIS NEAR IN GERMANY

Situation in Berlin Serious,
With Government Weak.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun from the London Times Service.

COPENHAGEN, March 2.—The political situation in Germany is developing with great rapidity toward a crisis. The situation in Berlin is serious. The capital is in a state of tension. The Government is weak. The Spartacists are active. The Independent-Socialists are active. The situation is dangerous.

NEW GERMAN CRISIS FORETOLD IN 'THE SUN'

Karl von Wiegand Predicted
Ebert's Hopelessness.

Karl von Wiegand, a staff correspondent of The Sun, writing from Copenhagen, perceived the threatening trend of the Spartacist movement a week ago, and predicted in a cablegram sent February 25 that the appearance of Bolshevism in Bavaria and other parts of Germany had made the continuance of the Ebert-Scheidemann Government "utterly hopeless."

Mr. von Wiegand's information was based on his own close personal observation and his familiarity with the exact day to day sweep of the radical storm. He has enabled readers of The Sun to foresee the strength and menace of the popular revolt that now has broken in Germany, but which is gathering almost as darkly in Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

From Copenhagen he has been enabled to gather up the significant moves in the latest repetition of the Russian debacle, catching the rising tide from the head from the establishment of the Soviet in Bavaria and as it appeared in other more obscure centers. He was certain that the Ebert Government could not withstand the rising tide from the Ruhr disorders he has traced the clear story in daily despatches. On February 25 he wrote:

"The situation in Germany is utterly hopeless. With the establishment of a Soviet republic in Bavaria and the disintegration of the Berlin Government to send troops against Munich, which might be construed as an attempt to bring the Ebert Government to its knees, it is feared that the Soviet communistic ex-

SOVIET MOVEMENT SPREADS RAPIDLY

Strikes in Saxony Part of Plan to Cut Berlin From Southern Germany.

WEIMAR IS ISOLATED

Middle Classes in Leipzig
Strike as Protest Against Communist Regime.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun from the London Times Service.

BERN, March 2.—News reaching here points out the rapidity of the Communist movement spreading in central Germany. It is believed the strikes in Thuringia, Saxony, are part of a deliberate plan to cut off Berlin from southern Germany and make it impossible to send troops thither. At Leipzig all trains are stopped and Weimar is attempting to communicate with Berlin via Dresden. Railroads on the line from Weimar to Munich have been torn up. The National Assembly at Weimar is placed between two revolutionary movements, and with the postal and railway services interrupted and delayed it can do little.

The situation in Leipzig is complicated by a strike by the bourgeoisie as a protest against the Communist regime. Shops and cafes are closed. Physicians, chemists and hospital staffs have joined the movement. In Munich there are, apparently, two distinct parties, one formed of Majority Socialists and the right wing of the Independents, who advocate the retention of the Landtag with concessions to the Extremists; the other comprising the Communists with the left wing of the Independents, who demand the establishment of a Soviet republic.

The former is more numerous, but the latter are more active. The strike in Leipzig is fairly quiet but a coal famine is imminent, as rails on all lines to Bohemia, from which the Munich supply is chiefly obtained, are torn up.

The Neues Zeitung, an organ of the Councils of Workers and Soldiers, thus expresses its attitude:

"The calm which appears to prevail to-day in north Germany is only apparent. At the bottom of the troubles which have arisen in Berlin, the Ruhr basin and central Germany, lies the struggle for a parliamentary Government or regime of Soviets. The authority of the National Assembly still can suppress the trouble in the north, but none refuse to recognize the Bavarian republic of Soviets or inaugurate hostilities against the whole of southern Germany. Let there be no mistake. The whole of south Germany is ripe for a regime of Soviets, and its triumph in Germany soon will be followed by its triumph in the north."

"Confronted with the unanimity of the German proletariat, the capitalist governments of the Entente are reduced to platoon protests. Social revolution is contagious. English strikes and the attempt against Premier Clemenceau are the first signs of an agitation which is beginning in the heart of the English and French masses."

"The capitalist Entente Governments will be unable to set their armies against the great German proletariat movement."

GERMAN WORKERS IN STATE OF FERMENT

THE HAGUE, March 2.—An observant correspondent in Berlin telegraphs that the whole German working classes are in a state of ferment and there are unmistakable signs of the reinforcement from the extreme wing of the Socialist party. Other Independent Socialists are playing the dangerous game of what the Scheidemann organ, Vorwarts, calls "Courtship with Communism." The Government has sent with some polemic rumors implying a Ministerial crisis, but these denials don't alter the fact, especially in economic questions, the Majority Socialists cannot indefinitely continue to cooperate with their present allies, Clerical and Democrats.

The question of socialization is only one of many controversial points. Dueselhoff, indeed, has been expelled from the military, but, although the Government has secured under a new army act powers for the whole of Germany, it apparently hesitates to enforce its will across the Bavarian border, where the Communists already have laid violent hands upon the bank note printing press.

Meanwhile, the population, especially in Berlin, with complete unconsciousness or frivolous indifference, continues as the Berliner Tageblatt puts it, "To dance on the edge of a volcano." A picture of society before the food provokes the Hamburger Fremdenblatt to remark, "Tragic is the destiny of the German people if it does not wake up. The nation have not yet recognized the greatness of our misery and imagine they can stagger through this time of national disaster and danger over no."

"Light mindedness and lust for pleasure have seized upon vanquished Germany, while our conquerors array themselves in mourning and wear the dead. Some twenty millions is the number dead and crippled the world has to mourn as victims of this war, and the world, indeed, in the proper sense of the word, in Germany alone are people dancing over the corpses."

The features of the afternoon session of the Assembly were speech by Dr. Heim, leader of the Bavarian Peasant party, in which he protested against the continual appeals for the raising of the British blockade and urged Germany to do what was possible to feed itself by a little real work, and a lively controversy between Emmanuel Wurm, former Food Minister, and Herr Bauer, Independent Socialist, Labor Minister.

Says Grain Is Wanting.
Dr. Heim started the House by referring to sabotage as being more pertinent than was the blockade. He asked: "Do you know how much grain has been wasted on account of strikes? In the meantime, we are standing on the verge of a precipice. Death by starvation is facing us."

"Undoubtedly the Spartacists will live longer, but all could live if they worked. If something comes from abroad, well and good, but let us do something ourselves."

Dr. Heim concluded: "Why cannot the Government see that in the country's interests industry must be demoralized and socialized?"

Herr Bauer said he would not challenge the food faith of Herr Wurm, but it was a fact that every agreement with the strikers had been broken by the strikers themselves.

Minister Bauer announced that a bill would be presented at an early date transferring the coal syndicates to the Government as the first measure of the socialization of industries.

PARIS, March 2.—Rene Viviani, a former French Premier, addressing a meeting of the French Relief Society here last night, said that everybody should see the devastated regions of northern France.

"Paris is too near the frontier," he added. "It is impossible to move Paris from the frontier. Therefore it is necessary that the frontier be removed from the front of Paris."

POLES FIGHT WORLD EVIL, SAYS PREMIER

Paderewski Defends Large
Army as Necessary to Crush
Bolshevism.

By the Associated Press.

WARSAW, March 1 (delayed).—"Can you oppose Bolshevism with the Bible? That is a question the world is facing to-day."

Ignace Jan Paderewski, Premier of Poland, somewhat nettled at the apparent American opposition to the big Polish army which is being formed while the Peace Conference is sitting, asked this of the Associated Press correspondent to-day. He talked with the correspondent in his big reception room in the Hotel Bristol. It was just after lunch, and he was resting his mind from the labors of eighteen hours daily since December last by watching a soldier companion, Sigismund Iwanowski, an artist well known in the United States, play solitaire.

"I am feeling better now," he said in his familiar style. "Poland is beginning to see daylight. We have let of some of our bright future is behind us. Poland has to fight for this bright future, and we shall fight. If we perish, will perish too." Continuing he said:

"It is not an individual peril, but a peril for civilization, for the aim of the entire Christian civilization, peace and work, will not kill Bolshevism, as far as we are concerned, because you cannot have peace and organize prosperity with your next door neighbor advising your workmen not to work and paying agents to destroy your factories as quickly as you can build them. Most people like to get money without working, and that is what Bolshevism Russia offers."

When asked if he was able to reconcile the $50,000 Polish army with the League of Nations plan, M. Paderewski replied:

"Yes, certainly, and I am quite in sympathy with that plan. Poland's army is to be recruited for such time as is necessary to restore order on our frontiers. It will be an army of peace and order, or policemen, if you will, the same as the United States call on to protect its borders along Mexico from outrage."

"We do not seek any quarrel. We shall be delighted to see this pacific plan worked out. It is exactly our ideas as regards Poland's future which are entertained by President Wilson, providing also that an organization can be built up capable of enforcing the mandates of such a court."

"If humanity be organized according to President Wilson's principles an international army will be a corollary, and if the Peace Conference adopts these principles we will accept its judgment. We trust the Peace Conference. We are not."

OLD ARMY HELPLESS. U. S. EXPERTS REPORT

German Organizations Unequal to Keeping Order.

By the Associated Press.

CORLEIGH, March 2.—In the opinion expressed by United States Army officers who have specialized on the question of demobilization and readjustment of the enemy forces there no longer is any doubt about the complete uselessness of the remnants of the old German army now in regimental and battalion departments throughout Germany.

The conclusions of the Americans are based upon a large quantity of detailed information gathered from various sources by the army of occupation.

In the American Third Army intelligence bureau it is estimated in the summary of an expert that there are approximately 300,000 men, mostly of the 1919 class, who have declined to volunteer for the new army. They comprise the old army of to-day in the depots, together with skeletonized staffs of many large and small units.
